Funds will help clear trails

Though winter has already begun in Haliburton County, the provincial government has decided to help the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association to repair their tornado-damaged trails.

"It looks like they are going to provide the money," said County Warden Harry Davis. "They're sending up a man next week to see what has to be done and to determine the cost."

Davis said most of the credit for getting the assistance had to go to Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins. "He was just as concerned as we were that the winter would be interrupted and he knew that something had to be done."

Davis added that he believed the money to clear the trails is going to come "straight from the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation."

About 6 kilometres of the county's approximately 500 kilometres of snowmobile trails were made impassable by the June 16 tornado. Last August, HCSA trails foreman Tom Prentice estimated the cost of repairing the damage at about $25,000.

Eakins has been approached on a number of occasions since then with requests for assistance in meeting that cost. It was last Monday, October 11, that Eakins was able to inform county officials that the money had been found.

Davis said he hopes the work on the snowmobile trails can begin October 17. "It's just excellent, super, that the ball has finally started rolling," said Prentice. "The provincial assistance is just what we had to have to get the show on the road this winter."

Prentice said he believed there is still time to get the trails cleared before winter makes work impossible. "If we get enough money to go at her all at once and fast - and if we don't waste any time fooling around - we can do it."

He also said the HCSA executive would be delighted when they found out about the provincial assistance. "After all," Prentice added, "It's pretty hard for those guys to work as hard as they have been for the past year and then have something like a tornado mess things up."

The HCSA say they are the largest snowmobile club in the world. With their 500 kilometres of trails in the county, they attract a considerable number of snowmobilers from outside the county in the winter. Club president Leroy Lichty said snowmobilers are responsible for a large chunk of Haliburton's tourist dollar. "It's well into the millions," he said.

Only one county trail was badly damaged by the tornado, the Peterson Trail. As one of the main east-west arteries coming into and out of the county, the Peterson is also one of the most important trails. Prentice estimated that 40 per cent of the snowmobiling traffic entering Haliburton use that trail. Part of it, he said, was left 15 feet in tree trunks from the tornado.

Tariff could hurt county industry

All softwood lumber entering the United States from Canada is subject to a 15% tariff as the result of a move by the U.S. Congress on October 16.

Some experts say that 1,500 jobs across Ontario will be lost as a result. As yet, no jobs in Haliburton County have gone by the way because of the tariff.

"We export an awful lot of white pine to the States, so the tariff is going to be very disruptive to us," said Bill Thomlinson of G.W.Martin Lumber in Wilberforce. "So far we've had to close a sawing and veneer plant in Searchmont (near Sault Ste Marie), though our remaining six plants will stay open."

Thomlinson said the company's Haliburton County operations have not yet shed any jobs. "Nor, as yet, are there any plans to do so."

He explained that the tariff was imposed because the Americans believe Canadian lumber is unfairly subsidized by the government. "It's something that's been going on for a few years now. Three years ago the U.S. stuck on a tariff, but we thought the business was over and done with."

Thomlinson said he didn't know what other measures G.W.Martin would take to deal with the tariff. "American demand for Canadian softwood has dropped way off. Apparently consumers are not willing to pay the extra 15 per cent."

"It's hard to tell what's going to happen next," he added. "There are meeting going on all the time between the Canadians and the Americans. All we can say is that the market for our products in 1987 will probably be depressed."

Though his company is less dependent on the American market, Murray Fearrey of Haliburton Lumber is not so sure the tariff will damage the Haliburton softwood lumber industry. "This early in the game, it's still pretty hard to determine its effects."

"Either the tariff will stop

Canadian exports and drive the cost of softwood down in this country, or," Fearrey said, "demand it will remain constant and American consumers will accept the price increase."

Because Haliburton Lumber does not deal directly with softwood sales to the United States, Fearrey said the company would "not be that much

Let your Light Shine

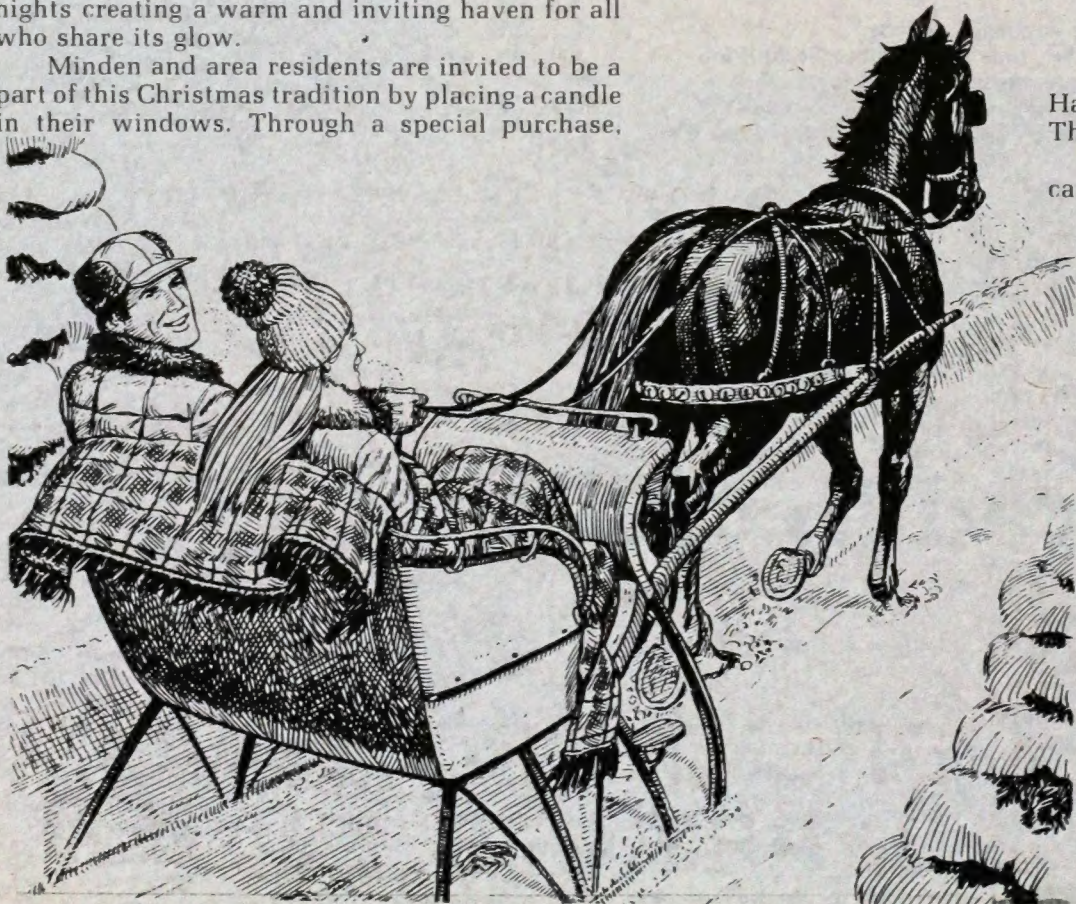

For years, the simple candle has served as a symbol for mankind. The single candle has been a beacon of hope, celebration and love. Particularly at this time of the year, the bright flame of the candle cuts through the darkness of the long winter nights creating a warm and inviting haven for all who share its glow.

Minden and area residents are invited to be a part of this Christmas tradition by placing a candle in their windows. Through a special purchase, single electric candles are available at downtown Minden stores. It is hoped that residents throughout the area will purchase one of these candles and display it prominently in a window during Christmas in the Village.

The candles are available from Minden Home Hardware, Stedmans and Minden IDA Drug Store. The cost is $1.50.

One candle will bring light to your life -- many candles will light up the world.

In an attempt to expose the smouldering insulation in the wall of the Francis Thomas contracting workshop in Carnarvon, Stanhope fire chief Bob Nangle peels back the metal siding. The workshop was destroyed by the blaze which is believed to have been the result of an electrical short. A number of vehicles were damaged by the fire but quick action by employees limited the damage as the vehicles were pulled from the flaming building. The building loss is estimated at $50,000 with a $35,000 estimated loss in equipment damage. Firefighters from Minden assisted the Stanhope department.

Acid rain report

Unfortunately last week's report on acid rain recorded at the Ministry of Environment testing station in Dorset, was unavailable for last week's newspaper. Since then, we have obtained that report, only to discover that this week's report was unavailable Tuesday, due to the Remembrance Day holiday. We apologise for the "dated" nature of the report and hope to have everything up to date in next week's newspaper. There were four precipitation events recorded during the reporting period:

- on October 26, one mm of rain was recorded with a pH of 3.8. The rain was traced from Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Southern Ontario.
- October 27, one mm, 3.9 pH, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Southern Ontario.
- October 29, 4 mm, 4.0 pH, Michigan, Central Ontario.

Understanding the sacrifice

Each year a dwindling number of veterans who form the core of those who attend at services across the county to mark Remembrance Day. And, it seems each year, concern is raised over who will do the remembering when the veterans are gone.

For the most part, those who lived through the Second World War and the Korean conflict, can take heart as they see the members of the community who take the time to remember. Surveying those in attendance at local services, one could see a representative cross section of our community, families, the elderly, those too young to know anything of the sacrifice of war.

It is heartening to see children with their parents or in class groupings in attendance. It is important that the significance of this date not be lost for the young. As a date in history, it marks the end of hostilities in World War One. However, as a symbol, it stands as a reminder that the lives that were given were to provide us all with freedom. We have an unwritten pact with those who did not return to ensure their sacrifice was not in vain.

Attendance at the ceremonies is important. However, equally important is to ensure that those to whom the torch is thrown, understand the sacrifice and honour the commitment of those who laid down their lives.

First snowfall.

Sole talkin'

- by Arthur Black -

Let's talk about ... shoes. The shoe is a device invented by the restless, questing mind of man for the containment and protection of his tootsies. For many hundreds of thousands of years, mankind got along perfectly well without shoes, padding up hill and down dale in total contentment on two feet that were naked as jaybirds. Then one day some now-forgotten Neanderthal stepped on a beer can and that was it -- the foot's age of innocence was over.

First they were bound up in strips of leather. Next came mocassins, sandals and mukluks. In no time the world was up to its ankles in mules and Oxfords and penny loafers and brogues and Earth shoes.

Actually, I'm skipping over a lot. Humans didn't even get around to inventing shoelaces until 1790. Before that we used buckles -- as in the old nursery rhyme 'One, two, buckle my shoe...' Not that the shoelace revolution made shoes any treat for the feet -- up until 1850, shoemakers didn't even bother to differentiate between right and left. To paraphrase Gertrude Stein: "a shoe was a shoe was a shoe". We can thank King George IV for being picky enough to insist on having his shoes cobbled for each foot.

Nothing much happened in the footwear department for the ensuing century and a bit. It wasn't until the 1970's and 80's that the Renaissance of the Human Hoof really blossomed.

I refer, of course, to The Running Shoe. Truth to tell, even calling it "running shoe" dates me -- there is no longer any such critter as the simple running shoe, but there was once. When I was a tad, the running shoe was nothing special -- just a rubber-soled, black-canvas-topped bit of footwear that retailed for about $5.95. Every kid got a pair after the spring mud dried up, and with a little bit of luck and a few bawling-outs, they'd last right through the summer and into the first snowfall of the following autumn. Running shoes weren't chic back then -- just cheap and practical. And amazingly multi-faceted too. You wore the same pair for baseball, football, games of tag, playing with the dog, climbing apple trees, riding your bike and goofing around at the corner store.

You also left them out on the front porch before you came in for supper.

Well, as I say, that's all changed. Nowadays, the laces will set you back about $5.95 and you need a Master's degree in podiatry just to decide which pair of 'athletic' shoes are right for you. You can choose from tennis, golf, gym, basketball, broomball, and raquetball shoes. In addition there are soccer shoes, cycling shoes, curling shoes and 'aerobics' shoes.

What's that you say, sir? You want a pair of shoes just to ...run in? How very droll. But be specific, sir -- is this for 100 yard dashes or 26 mile marathons? Are you a veteran or a tenderfoot? Is your right foot bigger than your left? Your left arch higher than your right? Beg pardon, sir? You've decided to take up Bingo instead? We understand.

It would all be hilarious if it wasn't for the money involved. Do you know there is a pair of Puma sneakers on the market that contain a microprocessor to help you keep track of your laps? You can lace them on for a trifling $200 U.S. It's big business. Last year Americans forked over nearly $3 billion buying:

- * 24.4 million pairs of tennis shoes
- * 14 million pairs of jogging shoes

Dear Editor:

I was a recent visitor to a unique area of your country. The combination of natural beauty and the beauty of nice people. The place was Minden and Haliburton, Ontario.

I was born and lived in the Collingwood area many years ago. I was not privileged to come to your area before. I came to visit Isobel Robertson, my cousin, whom I am sure is well known for many community contributions.

The natural beauty of your area ranks high with the many other parts of the world I have visited. I only wish my wife and I had come earlier to see the fall colours. We are looking forward to a spring visit to see the mountain flowers and greenery of your many different trees. I will then be able to say, truly this is a patch of heaven on earth.

Murray Stoutenburg, Collingwood.

Editor:

Before the snow season begins, I would like to comment on the sidewalk that runs up Main Street to the hospital. The first winter after it was installed, a small snow machine kept it clear for pedestrians. However, the following two winters, nothing was done to keep it clear and last year especially the road plow made sure it was covered over and forced people to walk on the road, which includes mothers with children and older folks who do not have the use of a car.

Another danger are the snowmobiles using Main Street, and while I have no objection to these machines especially in this tourist area, there are some that think there is no speed limit and roar wide open down both sides of the street.

With all the new business places opening up at this end of Main Street, there is a great increase in the foot traffic now using this walkway plus the Hospital and two medical centres.

I sincerely hope that for this and following winters our Council sees fit to make sure our pedestrians are able to walk in safety on a well maintained sidewalk.

'It is with great regret that I write...

by John Greenwood

Just inside the front door of Muriel Welch's comfortable two-storey home in Minden, there's a large portrait of a man in army uniform hanging on the wall. His complexion, clear and beardless, has the glow of youth. You might put him at about 20 years old. But he's got an odd, sombre expression.

No matter where you stand in the room the eyes seem to be staring at you, and staring at the same time at something off in the middle distance, something terribly sad.

The man in the portrait is Muriel's brother, Lyle Boice. The picture was painted from a snapshot shortly after Lyle was killed fighting with the Canadian Forces in Holland in 1944. Muriel still has the letter Lyle's commanding officer sent her mother:

"It is with great regret that I write to inform you of the death of your son ... Lyle was an excellent sergeant gunner and will be sorely missed."

He goes on to explain how Lyle, after surviving the Allied landing at Normandy (once, his beret was knocked off his head by a bullet) and the slow push into German occupied Europe that followed, was done in by a freak German bomber only months before the end of the war.

It was a Sunday morning, November 26, 1944 and Lyle was lounging in the doorway of his billet. By that stage of the war, German planes hardly ever breached Allied lines, but on that day one did. It dropped two bombs. The first didn't explode and the second demolished the house next to Lyle's, killing the family inside and sending a piece of shrapnel into his stomach.

Though he managed to pick himself up off the ground after the blast - he must have had the strength of 10 men, says the letter - he died soon afterward.

Lyle's family was luckier than those of most of the casualties of the two great wars. During the four years he was in Europe, Lyle sent home lots of letters about what he was doing and how much he wanted to come home. And with the death notice from his commanding officer, the Boices were able to put together a fairly accurate picture of what Lyle did, what he thought, and how he died when he was overseas.

A great loss

Altogether 100,000 Canadians died in World War I and II, and many times that number came home maimed. Because of wartime communications, their families often had no idea what their sons were doing in Europe. Especially in the First World War when whole battalions were annihilated at one time, (of the 20,000 Canadian troops who fought at Passchendaele in October of 1917, almost 16,000 were killed or wounded). Sometimes the first news they had of their children from overseas was the death notice.

When the war began, Muriel was working for an insurance company in Toronto. "I was five years older than Lyle and had been away from home for a few years," she says. "But Lyle hadn't even finished high school when he volunteered. All the other boys his age were joining up so he thought he'd do the same."

Muriel explains that at the time the war was a great adventure for young Canadians. It was a way to see the world.

"But pretty soon," she says, "the death notices started to come. There were only a few at first, but it wasn't long before everyone knew someone who'd been killed. And then it seemed that one after another your friends - people you'd grown up with - were dying."

For a country that had just sent the cream of its youth on what at first had been hoped would be a short, glorious campaign, the casualties were hard to take.

Muriel tells of one mother she knew who after receiving word of the death of her son hid the notice from her family. "She thought maybe someone had made a mistake and that the boy was really still alive and that if she just waited, there'd be a letter from him. But none came, and eventually the rest of the family found out."

Lyle's death was just as shattering for his family. Muriel points out that having been away from home for a few years, it was easier for her, but for her parents the experience was devastating. "You see, Lyle was an only son and having not even left school when he decided to join up, he was especially close to them."

"When news of his death arrived I had to move back home to take care of mum and dad. I quit my job in Toronto and found another one in Minden. But still, a long time after Lyle was killed, I'd wake up in the middle of the night and hear mother crying in bed."

"It took a long time for us to get over it, for everyone to get over it. You just tried as best you could to go on living as naturally as you could."

To get some idea of the effect of the two great wars on Canada, multiply the Boice's experience by 100,000.

In fact the First War was the more costly. In 1914 there were approximately 8-million people in Canada, a very young, small country as countries go. We sent about 500,000 of our young men to fight, and over 60,000 were killed with many more maimed and wounded. That was an entire generation for Canada then and the whole country felt it, and indeed still feels it.

Though fewer people died in World War II (about 42,000 Canadians) in its own way it was just as terrible. In Hitler's atrocities toward the Jews, the world saw true evil, and from the war came the polarized division of the world that we deal with today. Out of that war also came the atomic bomb.

In retrospect, we can attach causes and answers to the two wars. With a few hours over a history book we can divide the wars up into battles and advances and casualty figures and even dollar costs. And though now the reasons for the First War are still complicated, most school children can list the principal causes.

But at the time Canadians had no such resources available. When Britain declared war in 1914 and in 1939, Canada, as a Dominion, was expected to follow suit. That the mother country was in need of aid, was thought to be reason enough. And, at the time, it was.

But still it was hard for Canadian families to send their children to fight in a war in places which, in many cases, they'd only read about in books. And then, for the unlucky ones, to discover they'd made the supreme sacrifice.

According to custom, Canadians who died were buried in cemeteries close to where they fell. Many cemeteries contained thousands upon thousands of graves. They were named after the battles in which the men died: Passchendaele, Ypres, the Somme, Vimy Ridge. Some families who were able and could afford the cost travelled to visit the graves of their dead children, though for most, such a trip was an impossibility.

Muriel says that after her brother was killed, her parents gradually began to accept his death as they years passed by. However, in 1964, 20 years after he was killed, the Dutch government invited the families of Canadian servicemen who had fallen in Holland to come and visit their graves.

"My parents were getting on then," she explains. "Lyle had died years ago and the invitation brought back disturbing, upsetting memories. But I felt that someone in the family should go...to the grave."

So she and her husband Reg, went. They stayed free of charge with a Dutch family and besides the trip to the cemetery in the town of Nijmegen the couple were given a tour of the country.

"It was marvellous," says Muriel. "They were so friendly and hospitable. It was the Canadians of course who liberated the Dutch at the end of World War II and they remember."

The trip to Holland did bring back a lot of memories, many of them unhappy, she admits. After all those years she was able to see the places Lyle had written about in his letters, to visit the places he'd fought in battles. And the place where he died.

"But I'm glad we went. My parents were also happy that someone in the family had gone to Lyle's grave."

Muriel Welch visited her brother Lyle's grave at Nijmegen in Holland in 1964 as part of the Canadian Pilgrimage. The trip was sponsored by the Canadian Government and the Netherlands War Graves Committee

On November 21 the Chamber of Commerce is holding a fund raising dance. The dance begins at 8 o'clock, and tickets are $20.00 per person. The entertainment for the evening will be Harmony Road, formerly Leather and Lace.

There are door prizes which will be given out throughout the evening. The grand prize is a weekend for two at the Sheraton Centre in Toronto, with a complimentary show and $200.00 in cash. A limousine will pick up the winning couple the night of the dance and bring them home again. This means that you must come to the dance packed and ready to go, just in case you win.

This is a fund raising event. As we all know the Chamber faces an accumulated deficit as of March 31, of $30,000. This dance is one of the many important steps that we hope will lower, and eventually remove, the deficit. There were 300 tickets printed and we hope it will be a sellout. So get a few friends together, make up a table or two and come on out for a night of good fun and entertainment.

The tickets can be purchased from the Chamber office, at my office in Haliburton, from various participating merchants and from any of the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

Muriel Welch

For Muriel the experience must have been a sort of release; at last she'd seen how and where her brother had met his end.

Although the Dutch government invited all Canadian families who had lost a member in Holland during the Second World War, many chose not to go. Likely they felt much as Muriel's parents - that they'd dealt with the death in their own way a long time ago, and that the trip would just re-open old wounds.

But having gone to the cemetery at Nijmegen, Muriel now has something more than the portraits in her hall to remember her brother by.

She has a memory of a white gravestone inscribed with his name in a cemetery filled with ranks of similar graves - of men probably much like Lyle - on the outskirts of a small town in Holland.

* 21.6 million pairs of gym/basketball shoes and 7.5 million pairs of aerobics shoes.

Do you detect anything a tad ominous about the foregoing statistics? You might if you were in the footwear business. Fact is, if you add up all those millions of coddled bunnies it will dawn on you that -- by George -- there can't be too many unshod feel feet flapping around out there!

And that's the point. The running shoe market is just about saturated. North America has a sufficiency of running shoes. What's a poor multi-trillionaire running shoe manufacturer going to do to keep the wolf from the Jacuzzi now?

Diversify, of course. Which is why, any day now your favourite newspapers and magazines are going to start trying to convince you that what's missing from your life is a decent pair of ...

Walking shoes.

You heard right. Walking shoes are the next big fad. Already Nike, Reebok, Bally and Converse have hit the market with their own brand name Walking shoes.

What's so special about them? Aside from the hype, not a heck of a lot. Oh, they look a little less exotic than running shoes -- walking shoes are more 'suburban' looking. And some of them feature a kind of lump in the insole that the manufacturers are pleased to call a 'rocker'. For me the only rocker in the Walking Shoe phenomenon is the price tag - $90 to $30 a pair -- but what do I know? I'm so reactionary I still think that if you want to go for a walk, anything from carpet slippers to gum boots will do the job.

I do know, however, what I'm going to do when that first pair of Madison-Avenue-goosed, "bio-mechanically improved" walking shoes appear in the window of my local shoe store any day now.

I plan to keep right on walking.

Provincial grant up 15.7 per cent

Haliburton County is to get a 15.7 per cent increase in unconditional grants from the provincial government in 1987, Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins announced Monday on behalf of the minister of municipal affairs, Bernard Grandmaitre.

Every year municipalities and counties across the province receive unconditional grants from the government. In 1986 Haliburton County received $1,220,946. In 1987, the amount will be $1,412,156.

The reason for the increase, Eakins' office said, is that the government discovered it had a $405 million revenue surplus over what it predicted it would have been when the budget was planned.

A strong economy is cited as the cause of the surplus, according to a government spokesman.

Haliburton's 15.7 per cent grant increase is higher than the provincial average of five per cent because it is considered a low-growth area, Eakins' office said.

"Of course I'm pleased to hear about the increase but the government is just giving back money they took away from us before," said County Warden Harry

Davis. "It all balances out in the end."

Most of the provincial grant goes to the municipalities and townships. In 1986 the county itself received $170,473. In 1987 that amount will be $230,615 - which is a 35.3 per cent increase.

The largest grant within the county will go to Dysart et al, which received $260,971 this year and will get $301,901 next year. That's a rise of 15.7 per cent.

This year Anson, Hindon and Minden received $204,376. That amount will be $231,614 in 1987, an increase of 13.3 per cent.

In 1986, Stanhope received $104,436 from the government. In 1987, the township will get $119,325, an increase.

The township of Lutterworth will receive $71,383 in 1987, an increase of 13.1 per cent.

Cardiff township will receive an increase of 12.5%, amounting to $89,156.

An increase of 8.1 per cent to Monmouth gives the township a grant of $81,391.

In 1987 Snowdon township will receive $44,616, an increase of 10.6 per cent.

Police plan stop checks

With the upcoming holiday season fast approaching the Ontario Provincial Police will be stepping up the practice of roadside stop checks. The stop checks are designed to determine if the driver of a motor vehicle has been consuming alcohol, with the least amount of inconvenience to the motoring public.

Two teams of five (5) men each will be setting up stop checks throughout the Peterborough district including Haliburton County. In addition to these special teams the members of Minden Detachment will be conducting their own stop checks around the clock seven (7) days a week.

This practice will be continued well into 1987 to ensure the holiday season will be safer for all.

Another opening

It was a busy year for businesses in the Minden area. Several moved to new premises and a number of new shops opened in the community.

During the busy summer season, the business owners found it difficult to host ceremonies marking their official opening and so, late last month, two businesses which have been in operation for months at their present locations, celebrated their "official" openings.

Municipal Reeve Sinc Nesbitt officiated at both events, at the right he snips the ribbon marking the opening of Leitha's Sweets and Treats on South Water Street. Owners Leitha and Jack Grexton and their children assisted the Reeve. The store specializes in snacks and sweet treats along with bulk food items.

On the same weekend Mr. Nesbitt also cut the ribbon to mark the official opening of McMahon Feed Store at the intersection of Main Street and Deep Bay Road. With the help of owner Jim McMahon, left, his wife Janet and an enthusiastic group of well-wishers, the reeve cut the ribbon.

Jim is well known to the community having operated the feed business for a number of years. In addition to a complete line of animal feed, the retail outlet sells seed, fertilizer, horse tack among other items for the rural community.

Renewal on the forest floor

Ever wonder where all those leaves, meadow and woodland annuals, and other plant debris disappears to? Together, they're a phenomenal volume - knee deep through meadows, boot deep through woodlands in a blanket covering virtually all of Ontario. Think about it on Ontario's scale as you're tidying up one little garden - hundreds of cubic miles of material, and it disappears as if by magic.

The "magic" lies in a remarkable army that few of us even realize exists. Worms, bacteria, pill bugs, fungi, millipedes, snow fleas and an array of other "creepy crawlies" that outnumber the human population millions (maybe billions) to one.

But the army itself is a small part of the story. It's part of a recycling process essential to the very survival of life in Ontario. Plants are, of course, the "primary producers" that support all of the animal (and people) life above. They do it by combining carbon, water and an assortment of minerals and other nutrients into the plant structure.

But the supply of nutrients available (in that thin skin of the earth's surface) is surprisingly limited. In some forests, all of the usable nutrients are tied up in the vegetation itself. Without fresh minerals, vegetative life (and everything that depends upon it) would grind to a halt. And at the same time, all life would choke under a mantle of plant debris.

Enter the "army". It breaks down this year's leftover, waste vegetation into the component parts - carbon dioxide, water, and loose minerals. In the process, this army provides food (the animals' bodies) for perhaps 1/3 of Ontario's wildlife, including toads, robins, moles and woodcock.

The first hard frost is a key event in the process. Although they may still look like plants, the entire structure of soft, moisture-filled plants (like marigolds) is instantly destroyed by freezing. Every cell is burst, and each cell's complex structure reduced to a brew.

The ragged skeleton is promptly colonized by bacteria and fungi. Close behind come the pill bugs, millipedes, beetles and other organisms which munch away the plant's brew, its skeleton and even the fungi.

Inside their "gut", many of these invertebrates have enormous colonies of microscopic bacteria, capable of tearing apart the plant cellulose - so tenacious, it's the primary part of paper. The product is an incredible coating of "insect droppings", fertilizer for plant growth.

Driver faces two charges

30, of Scarborough. The man will appear in court May 8 of next year to answer two counts of criminal negligence causing death. The charges were laid following the deaths of two individuals in a car accident July 27. The accident occurred on Highway 121 south of Minden.

In the accident, 51 year old Harvey Schroeder of Kinmount and 27 year old Paul Thompson of Bobcaygeon were fatally injured.

Sentenced

A 47 year old Sarnia area man has been sentenced to a year in jail after he pleaded guilty to a charge of aggravated assault. The man appeared in District Court in Lindsay during the past week.

The charge related to an incident which occurred almost a year ago at Ragged Falls in McLintock Township on Highway 60. The highway leading into Algonquin Park passes through a portion of Haliburton County.

On September 16, police were called to the falls to rescue a woman stranded on a rock in the middle of the river below the falls. The woman was Margaret Elaine Lambert, wife of the accused.

According to the report at the time, the couple had stopped at the falls after visiting the park. As they stood looking at the falls, the woman was thrown into the rushing water by her husband. She was swept over the falls, but managed to survive the descent and emerged at the bottom of the falls clinging to a rock in the middle of the river.

Police and Dwight firemen were called to rescue Mrs. Lambert from the rock. She was treated for bruises, cold and exposure.

Shooting incident

A man taking pot shots at a traffic sign with a shot gun, discovered he should stick to ducks. The man, 25 year old Kenneth Harvey of Toronto, appeared in provincial court last Wednesday and pleaded guilty to a charge of careless use of a firearm.

According to the police, when the man fired on the sign, pellets from his shotgun struck and damaged a house behind the sign. When he realized what he had done, the man fled the scene, but was later apprehended by the police.

Harvey was sentenced to 14 days in jail on the firearm charge. The conviction also drew a term of probation.

He also pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a vehicle while the alcohol level in his blood exceeded the 80 mg limit. On this charge he was fined $300 and his licence suspended for 12 months.

A third charge of impaired driving was dropped.

Vasey downs Home 11-4

In the second round of games in the Minden Men's Industrial League played Monday night, Vasey Real Estate never looked back in their 11-4 trouncing of Home Hardware. In the other two games, Hartwick edged The Times by a 10-9 margin while Halls Insurance defeated the Rockcliffe 7-4.

Dave Hartwick led the scoring for Vasey's, notching six of their eleven goals. One of those markers was unassisted.

Bart Hilhorst scored four goals in the winning cause, one unassisted while Andy Campbell notched the other marker.

Hilhorst also picked up four assists, while Campbell was credited with two and Hartwick one. Other assists went to Royce Miller with three, John Buchanan with two and Bern Berry and Jeff Campbell with a single each.

Four players shared the scoring for Home Hardware. Scoring unassisted efforts were Murray Beetlestone, John McAdam and Kim Collis. The other marker came from DEan Hewitt with assists to Ken Casey.

Two players shared the scoring honours for Hartwick Construction. Brian Shaw notched six goals, one unassisted while Sid MacKeigan picked up the remaining four. MacKeigan also assisted on two other goals. Also adding to their assist totals this week were Dan Reid with four, Eldon Bull and Trent Lloyd with a pair and Steve Crowe and Tom Stewart

A Hartwick Construction forward looks for an opening as he controls the puck in the corner during a game Monday night against The Times. It was a closely fought contest with plenty of scoring opportunities which ended with Hartwick ahead by a single goal.

Novices split weekend games

submitted

Friday night, the Minden Novice II team went to Bobcaygeon for their first game of the season.

The team was unable to get on track in the first period and trailed 2 - 0. Playing better in the second and third periods, the boys were unable to catch 'Caygeon, hitting four goal posts and losing 5 - 2.

Donald Todd scored both Minden goals.

Saturday the boys played well from the opening faceoff - scoring in the first minute against Fenelon and never looking back.

Final score was 6 - 0. Scoring for Minden were Donald Todd two goals one assist; Ryan Anderson two goals; Philip Daniels one goal; Ashley Walker one goal, one assist; Adam Carpenter and Chris Kerr picked up one assist each. Gavin Gartshore got the shutout.

story. Some - like poplar and willow leaves fall wet and rot quickly. But most are dry and aren't affected by frost. Instead of rotting quickly, they form an insulating blanket, which will last most of the winter, while invertebrates sit in near-suspended animation, and earthworms hibernate a meter or more down in the soil.

By spring, the leaves will be crushed and soaked by snow, and the bottom layer will be reduced to skeletons by fungi. And earthworms will be at work, tugging the remainder into their burrows. (You can watch and hear it on still evenings, as perfectly-dead leaves suddenly rustle, stand upright and slowly jerk, a centimeter at a time, down into the ground.) There, the leaves are digested into worm "castings", among the best fertilizer anywhere.

Some plant parts are very different for even specialized organisms to digest - oak leaves, and prairie grass for example. In some of these settings, plant debris simply accumulates until fire sweeps through to release the nutrients.

Have another look at that plant debris this fall. The army at work beneath it is recycling the minerals essential to next year's growth.

with singles.

The Times rallied in the third period, scoring five goals leading up to the final buzzer, but they were unable to catch the Hartwick squad.

Boomer Stamp led the charge for The Times with a four goal effort. Dave Rogers and Doug Ray each scored a pair, one of Ray's being unassisted. The other Times marker came from Jerry Campbell. Helping out in the scoring were Doug Colbourne with five assists Ben Manuge and Daryl Ward with a pair of assists, Campbell, Ray, Scott Reid and Dave Rogers each assisted on one.

In the final game of the night, Dave Brown led Hall's Insurance's effort with a hat trick. One of his goals was unassisted.

Other Hall's marksmen were Barry Ward, Terry Crowe, Louie Reynolds and Lawrence Loughheed all with singles. Assists went to Joe Mitchell with a pair and singles to Barry Ward, Dave Brown, Lawrence Loughheed Rick Salmon and Jim Todd.

Scoring for the Rockcliffe Foamblowers were Greg Carpenter and Doug Thain each with two. One of Carpenter's goals was unassisted. Assists on the Rockcliffe team were credited to Jim Keetch, Barry Shaw and Doug Schell with two.

The teams take to the ice again this Monday evening at 7 p.m. in the opening match Hall's will play Home Hardware. The Times plays Rockcliffe Tavern at 8:30 p.m. while the 10 p.m. card sees Hartwick facing Vasey. Admission to the games at the Minden arena is free.

Police warn against fraud

The Ontario Provincial Police Anti-Rackets Branch have issued a warning to the business community concerning a fraudulent telephone soliciting scheme originating in Quebec. Fifteen southern Ontario communities have reported victims since 1985.

An advertisement firm representing themselves as "Promotion Plus", "Telemarketing", or "Bowling Pro" each with a Quebec address solicit local merchants to purchase advertising space on telephone book covers, restaurant place mats, local maps, and bowling score sheets with payment or portions of payments being forwarded in advance to the advertising firm. This is the last merchants will see of their monies.

The O.P.P. suggest there is no substitute for local, well-known printing businesses or for using printing and advertisement firms that are known to be reputable through other business referrals or by checking with the local Chamber of Commerce.

The Ontario Provincial Police are interested in knowing of any approaches by any of the Quebec based advertising firms using the names "Promotion Plus", "Telemarketing", or "Bowling Pro", or of any unknown firms indicating a similar offer to produce advertisements on telephone books, place mats, maps and bowling sheets. Local O.P.P. Detachments should be contacted.

WHY A CHEAP SLED MAY NOT BE THE MOST ECONOMICAL.

Today, the cheapest sled costs about $1500. And it's not an Arctic Cat!

Instead of building a cheap sled, we build the most economical snowmobile in the world. The Jag. The Jag gets better mileage from its powerful 440 c.c. twin engine than the cheap sleds get from their little 250 c.c. singles. Snow Goer magazine rated the 1985 Jag at 33 mpg in real world conditions.

And don't forget, the Jag is an Arctic Cat, backed by genuine Arctic Parts and Accessories, and warm stylish Arcticwear clothes. The Jag. There are cheaper sleds, but none more economical.

YOUR HOMETOWN

a great place...to live, to grow, to shop.

With the Christmas season just around the corner, you are no doubt preparing your shopping list. This year, visit local shops and stores first. Local businesses are an important part of your community. They provide services year 'round, are there when you need them and have a wide selection of merchandise. Moreover, local businesses provide employment opportunities, contribute to the welfare of the community and take an active interest in the growth and future of your hometown.

Shop your hometown FIRST

Local artists featured at show

Local artists will get an opportunity to display their talents and help area residents with their Christmas shopping this Friday. The occasion is a show and sale to be held at Kenmar Lodge in Ingoldsby.

Organized by lodge owner Louise Dennys, the all day open house and show will feature seven artists working in a variety of media.

Among those with work on display during the day will be James Hurley of Lochlin with a display of floral designs; Barb Peel, well-known county potter; Terry Arnot of Haliburton with a selection of finely crafted pieces from wood including blanket boxes, musical instruments and even a ship in a bottle; Katherine Jarvis of Minden with crafts, quilts, silk scarves; Lochlin resident Anne Burk with crocheted and knitted items; Doreen Churko of Ingoldsby with a variety of sewing crafts; Roger McGill of Haliburton a painter of landscapes in acrylics, water colours and pens; Robert Dennys and Lynn Kauback, two Trent University students who offer a variety of hand-made Christmas wreaths and ornaments; and Louise Dennys with a selection of hand painted silk scarves.

"I thought it would be of interest to the public and the artists to hold this sort of gathering," the organizer comments. "It will be an informal day with refreshments and an opportunity to speak to the artists." There is no charge for admission.

The sale will take place from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Kenmar Lodge is located in Ingoldsby, off the county road.

News from Staunworth Court

October news

Well, back again! Didn't you really enjoy these past few days of super weather? Just a few notes now from our residents, they would like to share with you.

Recently Mrs. Jean Marsh joined with her fellow members of the Ladies Auxiliary of Canadian Legion No. 129, Haliburton, in a bus trip to Windsor. There they attended the Ontario Provincial Command Convention. Jean tells me that it was very informative and the trip was made very comfortable by the bus driver as the distance covered took over seven hours, so many deeds of kindness are shown by the folks of our Legion.

Mrs. Edna Smith returned from an extended visit with her sister in Denver, Colorado. Edna tells us that the scenic tours up the mountains caused one to forget the lack of vegetation outside of the city and concentrate on the green hillsides and to keep breathing at such high altitude. Despite the arid landscape, the city of Denver is beautiful and expanding.

Jean and Harry Cowan had a very interesting bus trip and vacation at Montebello, Quebec. From the brochure I was given, there are a few items that I think will be interesting to all of us, and that they enjoyed so immensely. The beautiful Chateau where they stayed has hosted important conferences such as: The International Summit Conference of 1981; Financiers and Bankers Conference 1983; and the NATO Conference in 1983.

This unique Chateau is the largest of its kind in the world. Three of the major buildings were built from huge logs from the west. They covered a space of 4,000,000 cubic feet. 3500 men worked to its completion in four months. It is remarked that they often disagreed without being disagreeable. They must have, wouldn't you agree? All roofs were covered with red cedar from the West, 10,000 logs worth.

It is beautifully situated along the Ottawa River, and many small villages have sprung up around to the extent of 100 square miles. The furniture is French Colonial inspired and the staff keep faithful to their tradition. We thank Harry and Jean for sharing this information and glad they enjoyed their trip.

Corrinne and Hector Arsenault, our Custodians, attended a convention in Oshawa and found it quite informative and helpful.

We take this opportunity to thank the Lions Club of Minden for making it possible for many of our residents to see in person the game show Wintario. We watch it so often of TV. Fay Dance and Greg Beresford were their usual relaxed and gracious emcees. The entertainment supplied by the students of Minden and Haliburton bands and the Country Musicians Group of Minden was really enjoyed and hope they follow up their careers in music. Mr. Payne, not only emceed this portion of the evening, but also lent his voice with our local Country Musicians. Hats off to the Lions Club and the worthy work they do in the community.

Happy birthday wishes go out to Albert Stata (39 and counting, Albert?)

Marie Forbes Gates had a very pleasant visit with her parents and daughter Karen, in Toronto.

Ivy Angliss spent the long weekend with relatives in Toronto.

Our gardeners Kathleen Thorn, Holly Cooper, Florence Lindsay, Melissa Hampson and Len Trodd have decided to put away the hoe and hose until spring. They seem quite happy with their 'harvest' and the social involvement.

A Fire Safety meeting was held in the lounge and many safety suggestions were brought up, as well as a movie covering safety rules to follow in our homes. This program was capably conducted by Fire Chief Don Booth and his crew. We thank these folks for making us more safety conscious.

Get well wishes go out to Carrie Vasey who is taking follow-up therapy after a successful operation in Wellesley St. Hospital. Also to Jean Cowan and Florence Lindsay, who are under doctor's care.

We were very happy to have so many children call on us Hallowe'en evening. There were about fifty in all as reported by our friendly captain for the evening, Art Marsh. Some of their costumes were scary and others were very pretty. See you again next year?

At time of writing we are saddened at the passing of one of our residents, Fred Gates. He was a very quiet man and a friend of us all. Just previously Fred had had a very painful experience with his eyes, making it necessary to be taken to Eye Clinic in Peterborough by Albert Stata. Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to Marie and family.

Thought for the month - Try to be like the turtle - at ease in your own shell. (See you next month. Keep well. - M.H.)

Kathleen Thorn and Betty Maynard of Tory Hill recently enjoyed very much a Class Reunion held with former classmates of St. Dunstan's, Scarborough. We can be sure much reminiscing would be done and many lasting memories to bring home. Glad you had a good time, Kathy.

Child care can be costly

by Faith Aggett

Good child care is expensive. Good nutrition, good supervision and good equipment all cost money.

At one point, all women were expected to stay home with their children to be a good mother. Today we recognize that women also have individual career talents to offer society.

Plight is being heard

(Intended for last week)

Disabled people can rejoice. More and more the plight of the disabled is coming to the attention of government agencies and other social service organizations.

The Ontario government has produced a "Guide to Ontario Government Programs and Services for Disabled Persons." This helpful booklet deals with access rights, employment opportunities, educational programs, health services, income considerations, travel publications, services for children and transportation issues. Truly, anyone with a disability or those working with the handicapped will find the information very helpful.

We also have a resource book which offers a further inventory of services affect-

Whereas, child care was once "just" babysitting, many women have invested in it as a career. They have taken courses and upgrading so that they can offer the best of themselves and create the best setting possible for the child's benefit.

These people have shown they care! Should they not also receive close to ing disabled people in 19 provincial ministries. If you have questions that need answering, simply call and we will look into it further for you. Our number is 457-2733.

"Hints from the Handicapped" is a manual produced by handicapped people who have developed household adaptations, gadgets or new ways to handle everyday chores.

Our office is located at the Drag River building across from Emerson Lumber. We have a ramp from street level and a two inch raise at the front door. Please feel free to come for these pamphlets or others that we have that may prove useful. The Haliburton County Information Centre tries to secure any pamphlet that would be of help to our residents so our supply is ever changing.

minimum wage for their efforts? Yet, often child care still has a low priority in many of our budgets. We look for the bargains and how we can cut corners. Should it be our children's lives at a crucial period of their development that we should cut back on?

Think of the responsibilities that we are handing over to the caregiver. We are putting our trust in her ability to safely and lovingly provide a stimulating and entertaining environment for 8 - 10 hours, possibly 5 days a week, 11 1/2 months of the year. She will guide them through teething, toilet training, provide socialization with peer groups, aid in developing a good image of themselves and self-confidence to tackle the outside world. Of course she doesn't do it single handed. She has a partnership with us the parent. We are working hand in hand to help our child have a good start in life.

Keeping that in mind, how can we work it around our budget? The government does provide some support. If we are receiving a receipt we can legally apply for the child care expense deduction. For example, using 1985 tax returns, we have made the following calculations based on an average two income family for one or two children in full-time care.

1 child in care at $65.00 per week times 50 weeks is $3,250.00. Fees charged to parents $3,250.00. Tax savings $680.00. Actual cost $2,569.20. Cost of child care per day is $10.28 day.

2 children in care at $120.00 per week times 50 weeks is $6,000.00. Fees charged to parents $6,000.00. Tax savings $1,361.00. Actual cost is $4,638.40. Cost of child care per day is $18.55 day.

(A detailed explanation on how figures were calculated is available upon request.)

For some of us it will still be too expensive to send our child to day care no matter how much we want to. Those of us facing that dilemma, subsidization could be the answer, if our situation meets the criteria after having completed the need test form.

Yes, good child care can be expensive! But it is possible to have quality care and make some wise financial moves at the same time.

Hi folks! Back once more with a brief news cast. Glad to report Mrs. Shuler is home from Peterborough Hospital.

Cliff Dawson came to see Dora Dawson for a short visit. Mrs. Stan Dawson and Miss Isobel Gibbs called on Dora Dawson and took her for a drive on Wednesday.

Our church service on Sunday evening was taken by Rev. J. Burgess and on Tuesday morning by Rev. George Elliott of Minden Anglican Church.

On Thursday the ladies from Harcourt brought the tea party lunch. It was real good and the program after was also real good. The choir of 15 or 16 young students was really enjoyed by we older folks at Hyland Crest.

We hope they will come again. I don't have the names of their trainers but they sure deserve a lot of credit.

Guests last week with Mrs. Lymon Cox were Mr. and Mrs. Ron Cox, and Mrs. Ron Earle all of Peterborough and they also went on a deer hunt.

Saturday night the Lioness Club had their certification night at the Recreation Centre. It was a great success with nearly 100 people from A 16 District helping celebrate with best wishes and gifts for this club. There were people from Ajax, Keswick, Beaverton, Oshawa, Claremont, Omeme, Bobcaygeon, Newmarket, Richvale, Whitby and Unionville. The townships were represented by Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt and Federal Representative Bob Tudor and the Province sent a flag and letter and all expressed good wishes for the success of this club.

Sunday afternoon at 2 saw the Haliburton Pipe Band lead the veterans to the memorial cairn at the Library Cultural Centre. Wreaths were laid by Muriel Welch, Joan Irish and Sinclair Nesbitt. There was only a small crowd battling the wind which right after brought snow. We didn't see any young people there.

A busy list for later this week. Scholastic Book Fairs at C.H.A.C.E. November 14, 10 - 4 and November 15 10 - 2 with pre-schoolers in mind. That same day Luncheon, Bazaar and Bake Sale at the United Church Hall from 11:30 - 1:30. Open House at Sandalwood Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 10 - 9; Thrift Shop open on Friday and Saturday from 1:30 - 4 and November 15th Hunter's Balls. Then dabbers bingo November 25.

The Lions Club are selling Christmas Cakes and you can get this from members or at some stores or call 286-1559 or 286-3714.

We also enjoyed a movie during the week called Missing Children.

Mrs. Winnie Barnum attended her sisters 55th Wedding Anniversary in Peterborough last Sunday.

Don Brohm with his wife and children were in to see his father Charlie Brohm on Saturday.

Please do not forget our Bazaar and Tea on Thursday, November 13th, from 2 - 4 in the afternoon.

Charlie Brohm had a visit from two of his sons, Clayton and Lorne, and they took him to Haliburton for lunch and to see other relatives.

On Sunday Winnie Barnum's son came and took her out for dinner.

Millie Wood had her daughter and granddaughter for dinner with her Sunday.

Hi Kids!!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: Holes fasten to holes, chilly to feel, mostly empty, but strong as steel.

A: A chain.

Q: Though it's close to you, eyes you'll have to admit, it's hard to get more than a glimpse of it.

A: Your nose.

Q: Bim Bam blamity blee, children make something that no one can see.

A: Noise.

Q: When the bank goes broke, that isn't funny, but what kind of bank needs no money?

A: A river bank.

Q: Why does the Statute of Liberty stand in New York Harbour?

A: Because she can't sit down.

Q: Why can't a man living in Halifax be buried west of the Red River?

A: Because he's still living.

Q: How far can a dog run into the North Woods?

A: Halfway, after that he's running out.

Planning for spring

by Virginia Muenzel

As the folk song goes, there's a time to live and a time to die. A time to laugh, and a time to cry. With this in mind, the Guild has chosen "A Time For All Things" as the theme for its April 1987 show at the Gallery.

Perhaps this seems a bit premature, but we would like to have an enthusiastic participation from all Guild groups, and want to give you plenty of time to create a piece of work specifically for this show. The Guild News has suggested a plan of action as follows:

1) Brainstorm - list all the "Times for..." that you can imagine

2) Choose one of these that appeals to you

3) Design your ideas on paper

4) Create your work in your chosen medium and all the while enjoy the process

There are some further details (i.e. date of entry, awards) which still need to be confirmed and will be passed on to you through upcoming news. Three points which will be of concern to you are:

1) All work need not be for sale

2) All works entered will be displayed

If you have yet to buy your tickets for the Guild dance on Saturday, November 29th, get with it. Tickets are moving fast and we don't want anyone to miss out on hearing Haliburton's own "Ugly Rumor". Several businesses have been kind enough to donate door prizes. It promises to be a good time. There will be designated drivers available for anyone who wishes to make use of their services.

The Writers' Guild is meeting at last, on Monday, December 1 at 10 a.m. at the home of June Devolin. June lives the second house on the left on Peninsula Drive. Bring a lunch, and writing if you have it.

The Potters' second meeting has been changed to November 27 at 7 p.m. at the home of Doreen Elstone. It's great to see these creative people organized again.

Remember, Garland Making Day is coming up on Monday, November 17. All you have to bring is your lunch and the desire to have a good time creating decorations for the Gallery. The time is 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Enjoy!

A car trip is planned to the "One-of-a-Kind" craft show at Exhibition Place in Toronto, for Wednesday, December 3. Cars will be leaving from the Gallery at 8:30 a.m. and returning at approximately 9 p.m. Costs will be the price of admission, your lunch and dinner, and a share in the cost of gas. Interested? Please register at the Gallery before November 25. Watch the Toronto Star for admission reduction coupons.

Don't forget the Christmas Sale opens Friday, November 21 at 7 p.m. The committee in charge has a need for volunteers for various times during the sale. If you can help out, please call Vi Elder and she will advise you when assistance is required.
